

*Keeping Fanwood a place
we can all afford to call home*

We've reduced the size of local government without sacrificing services to residents. Meanwhile, we're working hard to share services with nearby towns — all aimed at easing the tax burden for Fanwood.

*Making 'Shared Services'
a priority*

Fanwood is the first municipality to save $240,000 by sharing Police Dispatch. Now we're negotiating with Scotch Plains to share Police, Courts and Public Works for even greater savings.

Fighting to keep downtown redevelopment on track

With the recent groundbreaking at Fanwood Crossing, we're revitalizing our downtown by bringing new businesses, jobs and more ratables to Fanwood."

Your Neighbors Moving Fanwood Forward

The Colleen Mahr Team. Earning Our Vote.

Great schools. Safe outdoor activities for families. A close-knit community. Living in Fanwood means so much to us, but it's a tough job to keep us on track.

We're your neighbors — not professional politicians. We're committed to keeping Fanwood a place we can all afford to call home by crafting responsible municipal budgets, expanding shared services and keeping downtown redevelopment on track.

That's why a vote for Colleen, Russell, and Kevin makes so much sense.

"I've worked hard to put Fanwood on the right path, and I'll work harder than ever to keep it there."

— Colleen Mahr,
Mayor

Everyone has seen her around. Whether she's at the park with her three kids, meeting with business owners downtown, or expanding shared services with nearby communities, Colleen's been a fighter for Fanwood. She and her husband George live on North Avenue with their three sons — Liam, Daniel, and Colin.

"I am a strong believer that we must continue to actively search for more ways to share services in the years ahead."

— Russell Huegel,
Councilman

Serving on Council since 2008, Russ has been part of the team that made Fanwood the first community to share its Police Dispatch services with Union County — a $240,000 savings to the taxpayer. Along with Mayor Mahr, Council President Huegel has been fighting for expanding shared services with nearby communities. Russ and his wife Jenn live on Montrose Avenue with their two daughters — Joss and Meg.

"Part of bringing municipal budgets under control is making sure we have more businesses, jobs, and ratables in Fanwood."

— Kevin Boris

Kevin has been a member of the Fanwood Planning Board since 2008, and is presently serving as Chairman. With a background in municipal law coupled with his experience as counsel in a number of communities, Kevin has a keen insight into the numerous challenges municipalities face on a daily basis. Kevin and his wife Jessica live on Oak Court with their two daughters — Emma and Bronwyn.
